

spokesmen called up the news that the strike had started and called upon their mates on the boats to join forces with them.

According to International Secretary William H. Frazier of Boston, who is in active charge of the strike, this style of campaign bore immediate results. He said that as soon as the Creole and El Sol docked they were met by a mob of men, rejecting offers of even better pay than their fellows were asking and declaring they would stay out until the union had been recognized and the policy of hiring men from the boarding masters had been abolished. Frazier announced that this afternoon, as soon as they had been paid off for the voyage, the sailors, waiters, stokers and stewards would all march out.

CENTRE FIGHT ON MORGAN LINE ALONE.

"The fight will be centered on the Morgan line," declared Frazier. "I do not favor a general coastwise strike because I think we can gain what we most desire without going to drastic measures. I am satisfied that by tomorrow night the Clyde Line, the Mallory Line and the Old Dominion line will grant our demands. And we will tie up the whole Southern Pacific coast of the Morgan Company if necessary." Meanwhile the Morgan Company was busy with its plans for running its ships in spite of the walk-out of the men. About 400 strike-breakers were massed on Pier 49, North River, and from there a crew was sent to the El Norte, which was the next boat of the line to go out, sailing to-morrow afternoon. Agent Patton announced that he would fit up the steamer El Paso as a floating hotel for the non-union men and keep them aboard her indefinitely if necessary. The El Paso is tied up at the Morgan Line pier and had about 200 strike-breakers on board this morning. The first batch of men were sent on board the Antilles and El Norte, due to sail in a day or two.

About 11 o'clock a group of strike breakers came marching through West Eleventh street bound for the docks. The word travelled in advance of their coming and from strike headquarters in West street facing the Morgan Line's piers, a big crowd of men came forth. Hundreds of water front loungers joined them.

Leut. Baldwin and fifty reserves from the Charles street station were on hand awaiting just such a contingency. The policemen swung into formation around the group of marchers and held back the extreme line of the strikers with their night sticks.

From the sidewalks, lined with strike sympathizers, a few half bricks and cobble stones came whizzing, but nobody was hit and the strike breakers entered the pier in the time. Then their police escort closed the doors and found the pickets back off the company's property.

CONFER IN ATTEMPT TO REACH PEACE TERMS.

A few minutes later there appeared on the scene Charles J. Reagin, a special agent of the Department of Labor, and Col. M. J. Reagan, the industrial mediator. The newcomers held a short conference with Agent Patton of the line and Secretary Frazier, representing the men. At its conclusion a more optimistic feeling was manifest among the leaders of the men.

Frazier said he would waive direct recognition of the union if the line would agree to employ only union men and grant certain other concessions. Mr. Patton was inclined to think that some yielding on both sides might lead to the ending of the fight by to-morrow. It was stated that more conferences to discuss possible compromise would be held before night.

STEWARDS ON THE MINNEHAHA READY TO STRIKE.

The crew of the Atlantic Transport liner Minnehaha, which arrived to-day, were, to a man, reticent regarding the strike of the Seamen's Union aboard, and not one could be found who would say that the Minnehaha would be laid up on her return to England.

The stewards, however, were a particularly disgruntled lot and seem ready to go out if the firemen and others of the crew decided on that course. Stewards are paid in this line, they say, at the rate of 50 cents a day and their tips during a voyage rarely amount to more than $10, while formerly $20 for a voyage was not unusual. They attribute the falling off in tips to the disturbed business conditions and claim that the company expects them to make up their wages from tips that do not exist.

Married men are particularly hard pressed, and a walkout upon the arrival in London of the Minnehaha would not surprise those familiar with the conditions.

The International Mercantile Marine Company or Ship Trust, as it is commonly called, is fighting against giving the sailors and stewards a $5 a month raise, but to-day it announced that for the year 1910 its "net surplus profit" had expanded "more than $3,000,000." The Ship Trust, in a statement calling at-

QUEEN MARY'S CROWN, ACTUAL SIZE, WITH LUCKY KOH-I-NOOR

Her Majesty's Prejudice Against Large and Heavy Hats Shows in This Headpiece, the Lightest Coronet in Existence.

Here is the very latest thing in crowns—a reproduction, actual size, of the diadem especially designed by the Crown Jewellers of England for the coronation of Queen Mary. Although it holds the largest and most valuable diamonds in the world, it is the lightest state crown in existence. Her Majesty having carried out her prejudice against big and heavy hats in her order for this gorgeous headpiece.

Diamonds alone appear in this crown, and with its velvet cap and ermine band it weighs only nineteen ounces. King George's crown, which was worn by his father, King Edward VII., weighs several times as much.

The famous Koh-i-Noor, the "Mountain of Light," the largest diamond in the world, which was wrested from the treasure hold of the potentate Aurangzeb by Lord Dalhousie when he was Viceroy of India, and presented to Queen Victoria, is the bright particular star of this coronal, and its effulgence is reflected and carried on upward and downward by two of the Lesser Stars of Africa, which are parts of attention to its particularly "good year." "The combined income account for the year 1910 shows a surplus of $1,818,500, after meeting all fixed charges and operating expenses, in which are included all charges for repairs, maintenance and overheads as compared with a surplus of $1,182,500 for the year 1909, an increase of $635,900."

LONDON, June 18.—The strike of seamen is spreading among the dockers in the North and the coasting trade on the Clyde and Tyne is threatened with at least a temporary tie-up. To-day strikes in the offices of the ship owners are attempting to load and unload ships in the Clyde, but they make poor substitutes for the burly dockside laborers who have gone out.

The stewards of the White Star Liners Megantic, Celtic and Dominion and the Allan Line Steamer Virginian, all at Liverpool, quit to-day.

The striking sailors will win their chief contention, an increase in wages. Already a number of shipowners have yielded, and the tightening of the strike indicates that other owners will have to follow suit or submit to vexatious and expensive tie-ups.

The sailors say the Megantic, Celtic and Dominion are tied up and will remain so until their crews get an increase of ten shillings ($5.00) a month. The original demand was for twenty shillings.

$49,000 JUGGLE IS ALLEGED AT REICHMANN TRIAL

Company would stand sponsor for the notes. "Have you these notes now?" "Yes, here they are," said the witness, handing the notes to Mr. Clark. The witness said he had a talk with Reichmann shortly after the notes had gone to court on July 14, 1910, when they became due.

"I told Mr. Reichmann that I had agreed with Mr. Cummins not to do anything with the notes until Sept. 1," said Bradley Martin Jr. "Reichmann said this was satisfactory to him."

These two notes were made in the names of E. J. Knabe and William

Knabe. The witness said when he became president of the Nineteenth Ward Bank in February, 1910, he found the notes in the bank's possession. "The John Cudahy note for $50,000 guaranteed by the Carnegie Trust Company was not paid before the filing of the report," said the witness. "Was that note paid?" said Mr. Clark. "Yes."

"By whom?" "Mr. Cudahy." "When?" "The day after the failure of the Carnegie Trust Company."

"Was there any other note guaranteed by the Carnegie Trust Company that the Nineteenth Ward Bank held which was not paid on Aug. 31, 1910?" "Yes, a note dated July 1, 1910, for $47,000, signed by S. Ludlow."

"Mr. Hutcheson, the chief examiner, was in close touch with the affairs of your institution?" "Yes, he often spoke to me about them."

"Frequently gave you counsel and advice?" "Yes."

SEVENTY-FOUR TO COMPETE NATIONAL GOLF HONORS.

There are seventy-four entries for the National Open Golf Championship, to be held Friday and Saturday of this week at the Chicago Club's course, Wheaton, Ill. No Eastern amateurs, except National Secretary R. C. Watson have entered, owing to the long trip necessary, but several Western players of class are included, notably Chandler, Egan and Robert Gardner, former national champions, Mason Phelps, Western title holder, and "Snake" Ames. The best known professionals include Alex Smith, New Rochelle, the present, the holder Herbert H. Barker, late of Garden City; Tom Anderson Jr., Far Rockaway; J. J. McDermott, Atlantic City, runner up last year; John Hobens, Elizabeth, ex-metropolitan champion; Tom Vardon, late of Scotland; George Sargent, Washington, champion of 1909; George Low, Baltusrol; Gilbert Nicholls, Wilmington; Tom McNamara, Alexander Ross, ex-champion, and Alexander Campbell, the three latter of Boston; Jack Hutchinson and Peter Robertson, both of Pittsburgh, and Fred McLeod of St. Louis, another former champion. The Western list also includes David Patrick, now of St. Louis, formerly of the Metropolitan district, who has been out of sight for a long time. A noticeable absentee is Macdonald Smith of California, brother of Aleck Smith, who was one of three who tied for low score last year. The New York list is decidedly skimpy, for, while it contains half a dozen prominent players, the bulk of it is conspicuous by its absence.

Quarrel Leads to Attack With Razor and Neighbors Gather, Threatening Violence.

Walter H. Baptist, twenty-seven years old, this afternoon quarrelled with his sister, Jessie, at their home, No. 80 West One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street, drew a razor and slashed her across the throat and arm. The doctors say she will die.

Baptist is a rock drill. He lived with his wife, Maud, and his sister, Jessie. Reuben Curton, a neighbor, heard screams in the Baptist flat to-day and ran into a room in time to take the razor from Baptist and to hold him until three policemen came to arrest him. A crowd congregated in front of the house and threatened violence to the man.

Dr. Martin took the injured woman to Harlem Hospital. Baptist was taken before Magistrate Cornell for arraignment on a charge of felonious assault.

Brooklyn. Carey, cf. Davidson, cf. Daubert, 1b. Wheat, 1f. Hammel, 2b. Starky, ss. Coulson, cf. Zimmerman, 2b. Bergen, c. Schardt, p. Umpires—Brennan and O'Day.

(Special to the Evening World.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 18.—Pittsburgh and Brooklyn play the only game in the National League scheduled for to-day. To-night the Superbas will leave for Brooklyn, where they will tackle Doolin's braves, while the Pirates go West to hook up with the Cubs. Both Managers Dahlen and Clarke are anxious to take this game, as shown by the two heavers, Liefeld and Schardt.

Fred Hunter, the Pittsburgh recruit secured from Kansas City, whose work this season is that of an in and out, is to go to Indianapolis, so 'tis rumored. In the first inning Davidson sent a high fly to Clarke. Daubert got an infield single. Wheat went out, Miller to Flynn, and Hammel went out on a long fly to Wilson.

In the last half Carey was safe when he beat out a slow roller toward first. Clarke sacrificed him to second, Schardt to Daubert. Byrne fouled out to Bergen. Wagner fled to Zimmerman.

Umpires—O'Loughlin and Connolly. Attendance—7,000.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PARK, New York, June 18.—A Monday crowd of 7,000 saw the opening game between the Highlanders and the Red Sox this afternoon, and there was an additional interest to the game as the two teams are now fighting for third place. The opposing pitchers were Caldwell and Wood.

The Red Sox got away to a flying start and scored one run in the first inning. With one out Knight made a bad throw and Larry Gardner was safe at first. He immediately stole second and scored on Speaker's clean single to left. Speaker also tried to steal, but Sweeney's throw to Earle Gardner nipped him. Lewis then walked, but Yerkes fled out to centre.

The Highlanders were unable to do anything with Wood in their half of the first inning and after the side was retired without a man reaching first or a ball being hit out of the infield.

The Boston boys tore into Caldwell like a cyclone in the second inning and scored three runs in three innings. Wagner got a base on balls and was to second on Baker's sacrifice. Nunnaker shot a hot line drive past short, but it struck Wagner on the leg and the runner was forced out by a batted ball. Wood rapped a long drive to the right field fence for two bases and Nunnaker scored. Hooper then came through with a long smash and scored the third run of the lot for a home run, scoring Wood ahead of him. Gardner lined out to Cree.

In the last half of the second Knight beat out an infield single, but there was one out and the side was retired without an easy fly to Hooper. Knight died stealing second.

PIRATES GET THE HABIT; PROTEST ANOTHER GAME.

PITTSBURG, June 18.—The Pittsburgh Baseball Club has protested the game won here by Boston on June 15. The protest is made on the grounds that Umpire Johnstone ordered a decision on a play not within his province.
